3 Days in Copenhagen in the Winter

Here's the Plan:

DAY 1

*early morning arrival from the U.S.

- * SLEEP: Skt. Petri Hotel
- * GET AROUND: Taxi service from airport (there is no Uber).
- * EAT: Skt. Petri Hotel (breakfast), Andersen and Maillard, Kongens Nytorv Christmas Market for the roasted salmon sandwich, Torvehallerne Market for casual dinner options
- * MUST SEE/DO: Explore the historic streets of Copenhagen today. Make sure to see Paludan Bog and Cafe, walk down Strøget and Købmagergade (pedestrian only shopping streets) and picturesque side streets. Then, check out the Christmas markets at Kongens Nytorv, Højbro Plads, and Nyhavn. Take photos of the famous Nyhavn Harbor. Stroll through Torvehallerne Market.

DAY 2

* EAT: Buka Bakery (cafe for early breakfast or snack), Alouette (Michelin Star dinner experience)

* MUST SEE/DO: Start the day with a bike tour with Segway Tours Copenhagen to see sights like The Little Mermaid, Christiansborg Palace, and Amalienborg Palace. Explore the shops on King Street in the afternoon, and visit Frederik's Church.

DAY 3

* EAT: Brooklyn Bar for smørrebrød (open faced sandwiches), Gemyse (dinner-all vegetarian restaurant)

* MUST SEE/DO: Check out the eclectic Christianshavn neighborhood, climb to the top of Church of Our Saviour (if you can stomach it!), and spend the late afternoon and night at Tivoli Gardens.

Food Highlights:

- * Alouette - overall winner (fine dining dinner)
- * Roasted salmon at Kongens Nytorv Christmas Market
- * Gemyse- vegetarian food
- * Buka - favorite cafe

This itinerary is great for:

- * Adventure seekers
- * History lovers
- * Romantic getaway

Take note that...

- * There is a lot of walking!
- * Dress warmly in winter

Know ahead:

- * Visit the full Copenhagen Winter guide for more details and travel tips
- * Copenhagen is a small city, and easy to cover in 3 days - but could've easily spent 4-5 to fit in museums
